

The radio stations have controlled the airways and have decided what is best for its listeners. Surprise, something else became available and the people are tired of listening to what broadcasters think is best and the people are willing to pay for the no solicitation format.